

50p

Boundary Gazette

Thursday 18th December 2039

Reported by Ella

Escape at the West Midlands Safari Park!

The keeper of the lion is called Ivan Roarblot and has worked ~~at~~ at the safari park for 20 years and has reported that he has never witnessed an animal escape.

The lion, called Rory, is the oldest lion at the park, living at 12 years old. He's one of rarest lion - rare white lion.

Early morning, today, a very mischievous lion had escaped from West Midlands Safari Park. 2 adults, Husband and wife, said "The lion needs to be put to sleep!"

The 2 adults and there 3 children have been taken to hospital in bad conditions. Journalist, Ella Douthwaite, rushed to the scene and will report back asap.

The lion and the keeper

Tuesday 24th September

Milestone:

Check that the text makes sense, discussing understanding and exploring the meaning of words in context. Identify how language, structure and presentation contribute to meaning.

SC:

TO:

- Identify the literary features of a news article.
- Gather vocabulary associated with news articles.
- Annotate a news article with identified features.

How I think I have done in this lesson.

How my teacher thinks I have done in this lesson.

Success Criteria for News Articles:

- Name of news paper
- Head line - short and snappy, bold, eye-catching, alliteration, pun.
- Orientation - who, where, when, what
- Columns
- Main body - what/why
- Cause and effect
- Direct/reported speech (quotes)
- Photo/caption
- Three tenses: orientation in past, main body present, re-orientation future
- Colloquial - when direct speech (don't have to be formal)

GPS

- Inverted commas
- Parenthesis () - - , ,
- Colon & list
- Subordinate conjunctions

Name of newspaper

Manor News

Like a bite

Head line

SHORT SNAPPY

BLIZZARD CAUSES CHAOS!

Bold eye-catching

Pun

Alliteration

JANUARY 19th 2014

Blizzard causes...Chaos?

A vast, thick, white blanket has coated the majority of the West of Britain last night. Many people have awoken to complete chaos as blizzard conditions hit the UK overnight. Even though the Met office had forecast these conditions, nothing could have prepared us for the sight which met us this morning.

All over the West Country, Police have been dealing with a flurry of accidents caused by the snow. Surprisingly, there were many people who decided to take the risk of driving in those perilous conditions. As a result one family in Stroud found two vehicles had veered off the road and into their garden. "We heard this almighty crash and my husband was outside at that point checking for damage. He had to help the driver out of the back passenger door," explained Mrs Smith. Therefore, the Highways Agency have warned drivers to avoid unnecessary travel, check forecasts and allow extra time for journeys. Steve Crosthwaite, head of the agency's national traffic operations centre, suggested: "During periods of severe weather, we suggest people consider whether their journey is essential. They may want to delay travel until conditions have improved."

In addition, many people were forced to abandon their vehicles and on the A595 this morning the rooftops of the cars were just about visible under a mountain of snow. Abandoned in the late hours last night, 74 people were rescued by helicopter with some had been stuck for up to 8 hours. Paul Calland from the Cumbrian Bay Search and Rescue team said that he and his team had to dig down to some of the cars to get people out.

Why you should be prepared!

He stated that the snow was so deep in places that the snow mobiles at certain points were actually higher than the cars which they were digging out!

Vehicles aren't the only sufferers of this fluffy, white, picture postcard delight; many houses are now without power, schools have been forced to close due to lack of fuel (and staff), major retail chains have run out of supplies and animals have become encased in the drifts.

However, apparently some people have welcomed the ensuing chaos and are making the most of it. We interviewed Blanche Neige - a student at Bristol Primary School - who told us, "We don't have to go to school for a while. It's fantastic, look at this huge wintry playground. I get to play with all of my mates, which means that we are receiving lots of exercise." She was greatly excited and added, "It's well fun!" So it seems that every cloud has a silver lining. At least for some!

Continuing winds and further snow being expected throughout the next few days means that the chaos isn't going to end soon. Consequently, make sure that you are prepared and only venture out if it is really necessary!

Summary

Report by B. Lizzard

Tumbling Trainers cause Terror for Teenager.

A young boy has been sent to a correctional facility following a bizarre crime.

Yesterday, Stanley Yelnats (14) was sentenced to 18 months work at Camp Green Lake despite trying to convince the authorities of his innocence. The Texas born boy was taken immediately to the camp following his conviction.

The unpopular, overweight boy has been convicted for the theft of Clyde Livingston's famous trainers, the well-known baseball player's trainers were taken from a homeless shelter. In a bizarre court hearing, Yelnats claimed that the trainers had been thrown from a bridge and hit him on the head whilst he was walking home from school. Making his story more unbelievable, he later told the court that he had sniffed them before deciding to take them home to his Dad who (apparently) is trying to find a cure for smelly feet!

Adverb

Unfortunately for the 14 year old, the police caught up with him as he was walking home and he was arrested immediately and taken to the police station. Later, when he was taken back to his family home, his parents and grandfather are said to have been bewildered, claiming that the family is under a curse and never has any good luck.

Having been found in possession of the trainers, Yelnats was sure to be found guilty anyway but the conviction was made even more likely after a witness provided vital evidence. A 34 year old female saw the theft and described the culprit as 'Around 14 years old, curly brown hair and a mole on his face,' a description matching Yelnats exactly.

To find out more about this case visit www.texasnews.com.

No photo or caption

Olivia Considine

Headline

Alliteration

Santa Stuck in Sooty Shoot

TC when TC
who At around 1am, Christmas morning, Father Christmas was discovered lodged at the top of a chimney in a small residential area, located just outside of Manchester. He had been stuck for some time and was found yelling at the top of his voice just after midnight. Fortunately, a fire crew attended the scene and Santa was freed shortly after their arrival.

In the early hours of Christmas morning, an emergency phone call was received from a distressed resident on Springwood Avenue who claimed that a larger red coated man was stuck in a neighbour's chimney. 'I could hear yelling from next door's roof!' said a local resident, who raised the alarm. 'When I left my house and gazed up, I could see Father Christmas waving frantically, asking for some assistance.'

Emergency services were called and immediately deployed to the scene, by which time a small crowd of children and locals had gathered. 'You could see his top half sticking out from the top of the chimney but his waist and legs were wedged inside!' claimed one witness. An attempt to free Santa failed, when neighbours tried to push his bottom out with a large broom. 'We tried our best but he just wouldn't budge!' exclaimed a young girl from down the road.

Once the emergency services arrived, the police cordoned off the garden and the fire men set to work. Five firefighters climbed to the roof and after a number of large pulls, Santa was finally free. The crowd applauded and Father Christmas was very thankful for the help and support from the emergency services. He was soon on his way again with his next delivery destination being Madrid, in Spain.

Speaking to him briefly after the incident, he stated, 'I would like to thank everyone for their help during my tricky situation. I was worried that all the little girls and boys would not get any toys, if they could not pull me out!' St. Nick continued to tell us how he had entered the house to deposit the gifts for Christmas Day. He also added that he had consumed a considerable amount of mince pies. On his way back up the shoot, he began to become wedged in the brickwork. 'I got to the top and all of a sudden I became clamped between the two sides of the chimney.' Father Christmas had been yelling for help for a considerable amount of time before the alarm was raised by a neighbour. 'My nose was black, there was soot in my sack, and my nose was tickling too!'

A police spokesman has now urged citizens to take a responsibility for how much they feed Santa on Christmas Eve. 'Next year, we all need to cut down on the amount of food left for Santa. We need to help him understand that one pie per house is enough.' This way, we can all work together to ensure that St. Nick stays slim enough to fit down everyone's chimney and we can all have an enjoyable Christmas Day.

No photo or caption

Headline

BACK TO

Reported by

TC when TC
Last week, British astronaut Tim Peake home from an incredible six months on the International Space Station with his crewmates Yuri Malenchenko and Scott Kelly. He is the first British astronaut to have lived on the ISS.

The men were launched into space on December 15 and in the months off, they trained intensively for the mission involved learning to speak Russian for 12 days under the sea and a space expedition.

During their space mission, Peake conducted experiments, tested out new equipment and inspired the next generation of space explorers. Peake told reporters that the highlight of the mission was a spacewalk where he had to work on the space station. Whilst he was away from his home, Tim also ran the London Marathon on his treadmill.

Having circled the planet nearly 186 days, the crew returned home in a Soyuz capsule, which reached Earth at 28,000 kilometres per hour (25,000 mph). The touchdown was bumpy due to strong winds, however the astronauts landed in the town of Zhezkazgan in Kazakhstan in good health. Having spent time in solid ground, the astronauts were able to walk the capsule and carried as their legs were too weak to walk. Whilst sitting in the suits, the men were checked over by medical staff. During these checks, Peake was asked to be home, 'The smells of Earth are wonderful to be back in the house.'

twinkl ★★ ★

BACK TO EARTH WITH A BUMP!

Reported by Amanda Kelper, Media Correspondent, London

Last week, British astronaut Tim Peake returned home from an incredible six month stay aboard the International Space Station (ISS), alongside his crewmates Yuri Malenchenko and Timothy Kopra. He is the first British astronaut to have lived on the ISS.

The men were launched into space on 15th December 2015 and in the months before take-off, they trained intensively for their trip. Training involved learning to speak Russian, spending 12 days under the sea and a winter survival expedition.

During their space mission, the astronauts conducted experiments, tested out new technology and inspired the next generation of space travellers. Peake told reporters that the highlight of his trip was a spacewalk where he had to make a repair on the space station. Whilst he was 400km away from his home, Tim also ran the equivalent of the London Marathon on his treadmill.

Having circled the planet nearly 3,000 times in 186 days, the crew returned home to Earth via a Soyuz capsule, which reached speeds of up to 28,000 kilometres per hour (25 times the speed of sound). The touchdown was bumpy due to high winds, however the astronauts landed safely near the town of Zhezkazgan in Kazakhstan. They all returned in good health. Having arrived back on solid ground, the astronauts were pulled out of the capsule and carried as their leg muscles were too weak to walk. Whilst sitting in their space suits, the men were checked over by medical staff. During these checks, Peake was asked how it felt to be home, 'The smells of Earth are so strong and it's wonderful to be back in the fresh air.'

Landing with a bump! Tim Peake lands safely in Kazakhstan.

Tim later flew from Kazakhstan to the headquarters of the European Space Agency in Cologne, Germany where he is recovering and adjusting to life back on Earth. Scientists are carrying out tests to see how his body has been affected by his time in space.

In a recent press conference, Peake commented on how he'd missed family and friends, and even the rain. Tim expressed how much he was now looking forward to spending some quality time with his family. When asked if he'd return to space in the future, he replied, '...in a heartbeat.'

His service to science has earned him an honour from the Queen. Peake was made a CMG, or companion of the order of St Michael and St George. In response, Tim said, 'I am only one privileged person in a complex team of technicians, scientists, engineers, educators, trainers and flight directors, all working in pursuit of one of the greatest scientific and technical challenges of our time - exploring our solar system for the benefit of people on Earth. This award is for them.'

Photo courtesy of NASA (HO PHOTO 1815162.com) - granted under creative commons licence - attribution

twinkl

☆☆☆

twinkl.co.uk

Quote in direct speech (Write an example)	1	2	3	4
Evidence of reported speech (Write an example)	None	"I could hear yelling from next door's roof."	"... in a heartbeat."	"We'd outgrown our house but couldn't find another one as nice."
Time connectives used (Write at least 3 different ones used if possible)	None	None	None	Mrs Ship explained that since her fantastic find, she has joined a local metal detecting group.
Shift to present/future tense at the end (write an example from the last paragraph).	Yesterday	At around 4am Christmas morning Finally	Last week	Last year
Example of passive verbs/sentences (give an example)	✓	✓	✓	✓
	The well-known baseball player's trainees were taken from a homeless shelter.	None	None	None

Thursday 26th September

Milestone:

Use brackets, dashes or commas to indicate parenthesis, using semicolons, colons or dashes to mark boundaries between independent clauses, using a colon to introduce a list, and punctuating bullet points consistently.

SC:

TO:

- Identify the difference between direct and reported speech.
- Accurately use punctuation associated with direct speech.
- Convert direct speech to reported speech and vice versa.

How I think I have done in this lesson.

How my teacher thinks I have done in this lesson.

"Can you take a deep breathe?"

He said that the boy needs to take a deep breath.

"I like this dress."

The woman said that she liked that dress.

Direct and Reported Speech.

Copy the following examples of reported speech into your books, then write them out again as direct speech. The first example has been done for you.

- 1) Miss Hull said that we were very noisy today.
"You are very noisy class eleven!" moaned Miss Hull.
- 2) Mrs Millhouse claimed that the Christmas Fayre would be a success.
- 3) Mrs Prisk shouted at the boy to stop running in the hall.
- 4) Mark laughed at Elly, saying her dress was silly.
- 5) Emma told Emily that she could not come to the party.
- 6) Sally complained that her shoes were too tight.
- 7) Chris mumbled that he felt sick.
- 8) Joe exclaimed that he won the match!
- 9) Carol offered to cook the dinner.
- 10) John shouted at the children for making a mess.

1) "You are very noisy class eleven!" moaned Miss Hull. ✓

2) "The Christmas Fayre ^{will} be a success," claimed Mrs Millhouse.

- 3) "Stop running in the hall!" shouted Mrs Prisk. ✓
- 4) "Your dress is silly!" Mark laughed at Elly. ✓
- 5) "You can't come to the party!" Emma told Emily. ✓
- 6) "My shoes are too tight!" moaned x Sally. ✓
- 7) "I feel sick," mumbled Chris. ✓
- 8) "I won the match!" exclaimed Joe. ✓
- 9) "I could cook dinner," Carol offered. ✓
- 10) "Stop making a mess!" John shouted. ✓

Direct to Reported Speech

Turn the direct speech into reported speech.

1. "I hate you," she whispered.
2. "Did you find it in the tunnel?" she asked.
3. "Let's find the others," he suggested.
4. "That's not fair!" he exclaimed
5. She asked, "How did you know?"
6. "Mending the washing machine," he said, "is a specialist occupation."
7. "It's the last football match of the season," he moaned.
8. "Close the door, it's freezing in here!" shouted Mum.
9. Mary said, "I'm going up to my room to watch the telly."
10. "How many days are there until Christmas?" asked Mark.

- 1) She whispered that she hated her. ✓
- 2) She asked if she had found it in the tunnel. ✓
- 3) He suggested that they should find the others. ✓

- o 4) He exclaimed that it ^{wasn't} ~~is~~ not fair.
- o 5) She asked how ~~did~~ ^{knew} she know.
- E 6) He said that mending the washing machine ^{was} ~~is~~ a specialist occupation.
- E 7) He moaned that it ^{was} ~~is~~ the last football match of the season.
- E 8) Mum shouted that he should close the door because it's freezing in there. ✓
- 9) Mary said that she was going to her room to ^{watch} ~~look~~ telly.
- 10) Mark asked how many days there were ^{til} ~~until~~ Christmas. ✓

The following paragraph is written in reported speech. Copy it into your book but this time change it into direct speech using inverted commas and other accurately used punctuation marks.

Peter introduced me to Jack who said he was pleased to meet me. I replied that it was my pleasure, and that I hoped Jack was enjoying his stay in Seattle. He said he thought Seattle was a beautiful city, but that it rained too much. He said that he had been staying at the Bay view Motel for three weeks, and that it hadn't stopped raining since he had arrived. Of course, he said, this wouldn't have surprised him if it hadn't been July! Peter replied that he should have brought warmer clothes. He then continued by saying that he was going to fly to Hawaii the following week, and he that he couldn't wait to enjoy some sunny weather. Both Jack and I commented that Peter was a lucky person indeed.

sf Peter introduced ~~me~~ to Jack who said, "I am Jack, I'm pleased to meet ^{Seattle} you!"
 "It's my pleasure," I replied, "I hope you enjoying your stay in Seattle."
 He said, "I think Seattle is a beautiful city, but it rains too much. I have been staying at the Bay view Motel for three weeks, and it has been raining since I arrived. I'm not surprised because it's not July yet." ✓

Friday 27th September

Milestone:

Identify the audience for writing.
Guide the reader by using a range of organizational devices.
Choose effective grammar and punctuation.

SC:

TO:

How I think I have done in this lesson.

How my teacher thinks I have done in this lesson.

DAILY CRIMES

HUMPTY'S HORRENDOUS HOSPITALISATION

Shared write based on WABOL

Late last night, at approximately midnight, Humpty Dumpty (38) was found unconscious on the floor outside the castle on the hill.

At midnight, one of the King's guards - Tom Jerry (68) - was making his rounds outside the castle walls when he stumbled upon the body of Humpty and quickly rushed him to Shell Hospital. Tom went on to explain what he had witnessed. "I saw him lying helplessly in a scrambled mess next to the wall. It was a devastating sight to see. I quickly rang 999 and within minutes an ambulance arrived on the scene to take Humpty away."

Jill the ambulance driver reported that it was a very scary experience due to it being her first time attending to such a serious injury.

After serious surgery, which lasted 3 hours, Humpty made an excellent recovery and is expected to be back on his wall within a matter of days.

"I'm not really sure what happened," explained Humpty. "I was sat on my wall, as I do every night. The next thing I knew I was here in the hospital, all bandaged up. I'm not sure whether or not I fell or if I was pushed. I'm just really thankful to Tom who found me and got me to hospital."

At the moment, the police are treating this as a crime and are hoping that someone will come forward with information. If you have any news about the incident call the help line on 01837 728473.

Exclusive
By J. Hamilton

Culprit is still at large.

of newspapers
MES 25p

I REALLY ROUND

HE WALL.

Image.

RS
y said that he felt a s sitting, humming a
steps behind me.
my back, and

mply replied with no

728473

Tuesday 1 st October		 How I think I have done in this lesson.	 How my teacher thinks I have done in this lesson.
Milestone: Identify the audience for writing. Note, research and develop ideas. Plan writing.
SC: TO: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> Plan the main sections of a newspaper report. Use ideas from shared WAGOLLs and magpie from them.

Headline:

Boundary's Bonding Bananza!
 Amazing time at PGL!
 Year 6's Wild Residential
 Camp, Fun and Games at PGL!

When:

Monday 16th — Wednesday 18th September. Departed - 9:30am

Where:

PGL Wenmarleigh (close to Garstang)

Who:

Year 6 children (most)
 Lewis (other instructors)
 Mrs. [redacted], Mrs. [redacted], Mr. [redacted], Mrs. [redacted]

Why:

To bond with each other, including staff.
 To get out of school.
 To try new things and gain new skills.
 Challenge ourselves.

What:

Coach - 40mins
 Arrived - 10:30am
 Lewis greeted us at the coach.
 Shown to rooms - unpacked.
 Gathered / prepared themselves for afternoon activities
 1st afternoon - Raft building and Jacob's ladder.

Dinner lots of choice. Communal Hall
Evening activity - Camp fire
Bed - 9:30 pm

Day 2:

Woke up at 7

Breakfast at 8

Full day of activities - canoeing, Zip Wire, Climbing wall, Archery

Direct speech:

"The zip wire was well good!" said one girl Poppy (10).

"Archery was amazing - I hit a bullseye on my very first go!" exclaimed Madison (10).

"I'm so proud of myself for getting to the top of the climbing wall - it was proper high and I thought I would fall," stated Ella.

"Dinner was well nice, I really enjoyed the curry. Much better than my mum's!" laughed one girl Gabriella.

Reported speech:

Mrs. said that the zip wire was very scary and high.

Alfie said that the doughnuts were very tasty and that he could have eaten all of them.

Charlie said it was funny when other children (and staff) fell off the canoe into the water.

Nicky said he particularly enjoyed staying in a room with his friends, except when they were tramping in their sleep.

pm

successful,
in their places

sp

a

cl

sp

Wednesday 2nd October

Milestone:

Choose the appropriate form of writing using the main features identified in reading.
Guide the reader by using a range of organisational devices, including a range of connectives.
Choose effective grammar and punctuation.
Ensure correct use of tenses throughout a piece of writing.

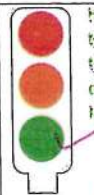

SC:

TO:

- Write a draft news article using appropriate vocabulary and language effects.
- Manipulate my sentences for particular effects.
- Use ideas/words/phrases collected over the week.

How I think I have done in this lesson.

How my teacher thinks I have done in this lesson.

Boundary's Bording Banzai!

On Monday 16th September, 35 Year 6 pupils from Boundary Primary School attended a 3-day residential at PGL Wimborne. The aim of the trip was to achieve new skills and build relationships.

At approximately 9:30am on the Monday, children and staff from the school ^{boarded} the coach and set off on their 40min journey. Around 40mins later, they arrived at their destination where they were greeted by Lewis—who was a group leader from PGL. They then were escorted to their accommodation, which was a 5min walk. Once there, children unpacked and made their accommodation feel like home. "I can't wait for lunch!" stated one girl called Gabriella (10). After a brief and early lunch, they were told to prepare for their first day activities: Jacob's ladder and Raft building.

One child, Poppy (10), exclaimed that she hated Jacob's ladder. "I hated it so much and I would never do it again. It was too high and I thought I would fall!" Later that night, they had tea and went to a camp-fire, they were greeted by a 'magician' called Tom. An ^{hour} later, they went back to their rooms and went to bed.

phenomenal

Tuesday brought more ~~formidable~~ experiences for the children in the form of: Zip wire, canoeing, climbing wall and archery. However, the children were moody and tired as a teacher, Mrs. [redacted], awakened them

After breakfast
at 7am. Breakfast started at 8am. The 3 groups split up into individual activities. A PGIL instructor called Little Lee guided Mrs [redacted]'s group to the climbing wall. A boy called Jackson [redacted] said "I loved the climbing wall, I got to the top like Spiderman!"
"I was determined to get to the top and I did! It was a great experience." stated a girl called Lacey [redacted]. Later on that day, the children came back to their rooms and got ready for the evening disco, which took place in the main hall. One girl, Chantelle [redacted] said that she didn't like the disco as it was too loud and crowded.

Wednesday ~~had~~ ^{came} as children were up bright and early packing bags and tidying their rooms. "I can't wait to see my mum!" exclaimed Charlie [redacted]. They had 2 more activities before home: Buggy building and survival. A couple of hours later, they grabbed their suitcases and bags, and boarded their coach home. An hour and 15mins later, they arrived back at school.

Now that the Year 6 trip is over and successful, Year 5 are now beginning to pay off ~~their~~ places in another residential September 2020.

Reported
by
Ella [redacted]

Friday 4th October 2019

The Gazette

blackpoolgazette.co.uk

Boundary's Bonding Bonanza!

On Monday 16th September, 35 Year 6 pupils from Boundary Primary School attended a 3-day residential at PGL Winmarleigh. The aim of the trip was to achieve new skills and build relationships.

At approximately 9:30am on the Monday, children and staff from the school boarded the coach and set off on their journey. Around 40mins later, they arrived at their destination where they were greeted by Lewis - who was a group leader from PGL. They then were escorted to their accommodation which was a 5min walk. Once these children unpacked and made their accommodation feel like home. "I can't wait for lunch!" stated one girl called Gabriella. After a brief and early lunch, they were told to prepare for their first day activities: Jacob's ladder and raft building.

One child, Poppy (10), exclaimed that she

I hated Jacob's ladder. "I hated it so much and I would never do it again. It was too high and I thought I would fall!" Later that night, they had tea and went to a camp-fire, they were greeted by a 'magician' called Tom. An hour later, they went back to their rooms and went to bed.

Tuesday brought more phenomenal experiences for the children in the form of Zip wire, canoeing, climbing wall and archery. However, the children were moody and tired as a teacher, Mrs. [REDACTED], awakened them at 7am. After Breakfast, the 3 groups split up into individual activities. A PGL instructor called Little Lee guided Mrs. [REDACTED] group to the climbing wall. A boy called Jackson [REDACTED] said "I loved the climbing wall,

I got to the top like spiderman!"

"I was determined to get to the top and I did! It was a great experience." Stated a girl called Lacey [REDACTED]. Later on that day, the children went back to their rooms and got dressed for the evening disco, which took place in the main hall.

One girl, Chantelle [REDACTED], said that she didn't like the disco as it was too loud and crowded.

Wednesday came as the children were up bright and early, packing bags and tidying rooms. "I can't wait to see my mum exclaimed Charlie O'Connell. They had two more nights before home: Buggy 1 and survival. A couple of hours later, they grabbed their stuff and boarded the coach home. An hour or fifteen minutes later, they were

Now that the Year 6 trip was over and successful, Year 6 are now beginning to off their places in Northwood residential, September 2020.

Reported by Ella [REDACTED]

the
to get lid! I t ience."
led
'ater on ldren
eir rooms or the took hall.
Humphries
n't like ms too l.
as the n bright
ig bags
s. "I can't wait to see my mum!"

exclaimed Charlie ●●●●●
They had two more activities
before home: Buggy building and survival. A couple of hours later, they grabbed their stuff and boarded their coach home. An hour and 15mins later, they were home.

Now that the Year 6 trip is over and successful, Year 5 are now beginning to pay off their places in another residential, September 2020.

Reported by Ella
Dy ●●●●●

Empty lined area for additional text or notes.

